

Abstract of the Disclosure

The present invention relates to compositions comprising a core and a hydrophobic coating material surrounding the core. The core comprises at least one oxygen-sensing particle. The present invention also relates to methods of detecting and monitoring oxygen in a sample using the microencapsulated oxygen-sensing particles.